BILL AUTHORIZING A CHANGE IN MUNICIPAL OFFICES IS REVISED

Legislative Committee on Bills Recommends Changes in Bill Authorizing Arlington Selectmen To Act As A Board of Public Works in the Future—Considerable Interest in Bill Here—Would Not Go Into Effect Until Next Year

The Massachusetts Legislative committee on Bills in the Third Reading, to which was referred the Bill authorizing the selectmen of the town of Arlington to act as a board of public works exercising the powers of surveyors of highways, road commissioners, water commissioners and sewer commissioners and providing for the appointment of certain other town boards and officers (House No. 1180) has recommended that the same be amended by substituting a new draft with the same title (Senate, No. 360).

Considerable interest has been manifested by Arlington people in this bill which would greatly alter the administration of the public works department. It has been passed by the Senate and is now before the House.

The revised bill in full is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Section 1. The board of selectmen of the town of Arlington, as constituted from time to time, from and after the first annual election following the acceptance of this act, shall also be a board of public works, and in said capacity shall have and exercise, under the designation of selectmen, all the powers, rights and duties possessed by the board of public works or board of survey of said town created under chapter three of the acts of nineteen hundred and four, and vested just prior to said election and from time to time by general law in surveyors of highways, road commissioners, water commissioners or sewer commissioners; and said board thereupon be abolished during the time that this section is in operation, and during such time the operation of said chapter three shall be suspended. No contracts or liabilities then in force shall be affected by such abolition, but the selectmen, acting as said board of public works, shall in all respects be the lawful successors of the board so abolished.

Section 2. At the first annual election held in said town after said acceptance, the number of selectmen shall be increased to five, subject to change, however, as provided in chapter forty-one of the General Laws. Such increase shall be effected in the following manner:—The two members of the board of selectmen whose terms have not then expired shall continue as such members until the expiration of the terms for which they were respectively elected, and at such annual election there shall be elected one selectman for one year, one for two years and one for three years; and at each annual election thereafter, the town shall, subject to change as aforesaid, elect successors of the members whose terms are then expiring, for the term of three years.

Section 3. The selectmen shall appoint and fix the compensation of a superintendent of public works, who shall exercise and perform, under the supervision and direction of the selectmen, such of the powers, rights and duties transferred to them under section one, as they may from time to time designate. He shall

Sergeant Ryan Gets High Mark In Boston Exam

Results of the examination recently taken by six members of the Arlington police department for promotion to a lieutenant's position were announced by the Civil Service Commission at the State House yesterday afternoon. Sergeant Albert E. Ryan received the highest mark in the examination.

The local men finished the examinations in the following order: Officers Albert E. Ryan, Harold F. Pick, Charles E. Carroll, Thomas F. Sullivan, Thomas F. Meagher and Daniel P. Barry. Their names will be placed on the eligible list for a lieutenant. The examinations, taken on February 4 and on April 12, comprised oral, written and physical tests.

It is now up to the Arlington board of selectmen to appoint one of the three leading candidates to the vacant position of lieutenant although there is no obligation to make the appointment now. The results of the examinations will be in effect for a period of two years.

Car Abandoned After Accident

A sport roadster registered in the name of Margaret B. Collins, 18 Alfred street, Arlington was abandoned following a crash in South Boston yesterday morning at 1.45 o'clock. Division 12 of the Boston police notified the Arlington headquarters and upon investigation it was found that the Collins family had moved away from the Alfred street address last fall. Their present address is unknown.

ART AS EXPRESSED IN ARLINGTON'S STANDPIPE ATTRACTS HUB WRITER

Did you ever stop to realize that there's beauty in the water tank at Arlington Heights? It might be hardly believable but if you happen to have a few minutes to spare by all means go up to the Heights and give the old standpipe the once over—you might have mistaken it for a monument.

As a matter of fact there's something artistic about the water tank at that for, according to a recent article in the Christian Science Monitor, "The Metropolitan District Commission decided, as long ago as 1900, that standpipes need not mar the landscape wherever they are erected. To prove it the commission has since built three standpipes which might easily be mistaken for heroic monuments or memorials of a type usually found as centerpieces in municipal parks."

One of these three standpipes is located at the Heights. "Greek medieval and modern architecture are combined to make of these tanks something more than just attempts to hide ugly structures. They are not only attractive landmarks, but compared with the usual standpipe of bare steel, looming like a grotesque scarecrow, they are works of art in their field," the writer continues. "Aside from their aesthetic value they are doubly useful as lookout towers and as means of enticing visitors. Standpipes, by necessity located at high points, too often ruin the delightful scenic spots. A picnic lunch beneath a huge, red, steel tank has little to recommend it. Then, too, a precarious climb up a slippery, verticle steel ladder affords greater discomfort than the resulting limited view warrants."

The tank at Arlington, located in the Heights and erected in 1924, might have been built by the ancient Greeks, except of course that the Greeks had no Indiana limestone. The architecture, however, is distinctly Greek Doric. The steel structure is incased in a masonry tower about 93 feet in diameter at the concrete base, and rises 45 feet to an inward projecting balcony supported by 24 concrete pillars. Over these is a concrete dome rising to a height of 30 feet above the base. A spiral staircase between the wall and tank leads to the balcony from which Mt. Washington may be seen on a clear day. The architect was Mr. Fred E. Low of Arlington.

"The Bellevue Reservoir in Roxbury, erected in 1915, lacks any distinct architectural design, but shows a hint of medieval and Roman influence. The tank is incased in a masonry tower of Bay View Granite and is 114 feet in diameter at the base and 47½ feet high from the concrete base to the top of the cornice. A parapet wall surrounds the promenade roof, in the center of which is a hexagonal turret 70 feet across. A stairway inside the shell leads to the roof, where the view is worth the climb.

"Imaginary battle-axes flash in the sun and jousting knights still waters of a reserve reservoir in Quincy at the castlelike tower inclosing the standpipe. The Forbes Hill standpipe erected in 1900, is surrounded by granite masonry, with an observation roof reached by a spiral staircase inside the wall. The tower is 77 feet high from the base. The roof is bordered by embattlements, making the entire structure easily recognizable as of medieval design."

"Mr. Benjamin Hancock, staff architect of the metropolitan commission, was responsible for the Roxbury and Quincy tank designs. According to Mr. S. E. Killam, superintendent of distribution of sections of the water department of the commission, these tanks probably are not unique in design, but surely are none similar in this region, he states."

"This attempt to beautify these usually far-from-ornate structures has spread even to private estates, a number of which in the Boston area have adopted various means of improving the appearance of private water supply tanks. Scenery-marring standpipes are eliminated and often something of genuine artistic value accomplished."

Arlington Athletic Field Nearly Ready

Great strides are now being made toward getting the new Warren A. Pierce Playground, in the rear of the Senior High School, Arlington, in first-class shape. Park commissioners have men at work on the place, the track is about ready, tennis courts are being made and jumping pits prepared for athletic events. The football field was completed last season and used for the first time. With the completion of the track the town will have an inclosed athletic field.

RABBITS DISAPPEAR

A pair of rabbits disappeared from the back piazza of the house occupied by Albert M. Nickerson, 54 Davis street, Arlington last Monday evening. But these rabbits, according to Mr. Nickerson's report to the police, were of blue chinchilla. A good sized dry goods box was also stolen from the piazza between eight and nine o'clock. The theft was reported at 9.25 o'clock Monday night.

HOLIDAY GLORIOUSLY OBSERVED BY LOCAL PEOPLE YESTERDAY

Arlington Man Dies Following Holiday Parade

John R. Littlefield, 37, of 87 Menotomy road, Arlington, member of Stanley Hill Post, A. L. Drum and Bugle Corps, dropped dead early yesterday forenoon, after completing his tour of duty with the drum corps in the Patriots' Day parade in Lexington.

Littlefield, who is said to have been suffering from heart trouble, made the 2 1/2 mile march with the drum corps. The corps was being disbanded in the rear of Cary Memorial Hall when Littlefield was stricken.

Dr. James J. Walsh, also a member of the corps, attended Littlefield, but the latter was beyond aid.

Littlefield was office manager for a meat packing firm. He leaves a wife, Bertha.

Arlington High Plays Cantabs This Afternoon

The Arlington High baseball team takes on the Cambridge Latin team, at Russell field Cambridge, this afternoon. This game should show whether the team which was good enough to take the Lexington team, is good enough to take a member of this league. It is noted that in the first two games Arlington plays it takes a member of the two other prominent leagues of the surrounding towns. Lexington is a member of the recently formed Middlesex league which is composed of teams which have been rather weak in the other leagues. Cambridge Latin is a member of Suburban league, once the strongest league in greater Boston, but now being pushed mightily by the Mystic Valley League of which Arlington is a member.

If Arlington wins today it is conclusive proof that they have the makings of a champion team. For if they can beat a member of each league they have the "stuff."

The lineup is of course doubtful as all good coaches keep it to the last minute in order to keep the boys on their toes. There is no law against trying to pick a possible lineup. Our guess follows:

For starting catcher, Pepper Wright. He's been holding the job down fairly steady all week. A probable substitute will be Mahoney if one is necessary. The pitcher will more than likely be Crovo to start, with Werner as relief. At first base Clarke will start and probably finish. Spina on second, Buckley on third, with Greeley in the shortstop position. In the outfield, Lane at right field, Harding at center-field and Hendrick in left field.

3 Brush Fires Here Yesterday

Several brush fires kept Arlington firemen busy yesterday. Engine 2 made a quick run to the Arlington-Lexington line yesterday morning at 1.38 o'clock for a grass fire which was extinguished after a stiff battle. Engine 1 company fought another grass fire in the rear of 311 Lake street, Arlington, yesterday afternoon. The apparatus was called to the scene at 12.43 p. m. The same company fought a third grass fire on the Niles estate, Mystic street, shortly after three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Reception To Paul Revere and William Dawes, Jr., Is Highlight of the Day—Daughters of the American Revolution Present Colorful Picture As Hostesses in Colonial Costumes—Chairman of Selectmen Poses with Riders

Paul Revere and William Dawes, Jr., rode through town again yesterday—a much different pair than the two patriots who were sent by General Joseph Warren to warn Concord and Lexington in 1775. These two modern riders arrived in Arlington with the company of motorcycle officers giving the warning with shrill sirens and a military escort clattering along the concrete pavement of Massachusetts avenue, an entirely different thoroughfare than the narrow country road over which the two heroes had travelled back in '75. Yet yesterday's ride was no less glorious and in every heart of those who hailed 1932's Paul Revere and William Dawes, Jr., was rekindled a spark of patriotism and cheerfulness—a feeling of gratification in being a resident of historic Arlington and a citizen of these United States. Patriots' Day was a glorious day in Arlington.

The day's observance opened shortly after nine o'clock with flag raising exercises at Robbins Memorial Town Hall. Arlington Boy Scouts, and Girl Scouts in their colorful uniforms presented a beautiful picture as they stood at attention to pledge allegiance to the flag. The celebration was on already Massachusetts avenue, Arlington's main thoroughfare, was humming with crowds awaiting the annual Patriots' Day parade.

It was not long in coming. Arlington's new American Legion post had, making its first public appearance in new navy blue uniforms with snappy gray leggings, received a big ovation all along the line of march. Other military units were equally given loud applause as they marched briskly by the thousands who took advantage of yesterday's ideal weather to witness the colorful pageant. Major General Walter E. Lombard, led the parade as chief marshal. His staff followed and then came the American Legion band. Others in the line were: Corp. Wm. Power Kenibbs Camp No. 66, U. S. W. V.; Arlington Post No. 39, American Legion; Arlington Post No. 1775, V. F. W.; Boy Scouts' Drum Corps; Women's Relief Corps of Post 36, G. A. R.; Daughters of Union Veterans of Post 36, G. A. by Elyse Joy

(Miss Joy will answer all communications sent to her care of this paper. For personal service kindly enclose self-addressed envelope.)

Dear Miss Joy:

I'm the most discontented woman in the world. I'm married and have a good husband. He gives me everything I want in life, but I'm not satisfied.

I have two children and they are in perfect health. I have a nice home, and in fact there isn't anything I'm deprived of and yet I can't seem to be happy during my young life.

I have tried to take up different interests but none of them seem to help me find my self.

My husband, unfortunately is a very cold matter of fact business type. He thinks all of my talk about being individual is silly and is forever telling me I'm crazy to be so restless.

I'm in hope you can help me solve my problem. I'm 33 years old, and fairly good looking, so please help me.

A DISCONTENTED WIFE.

Discontented with life, weary of living and unhappy, and yet you have the audacity to speak in the same breath, of your happy home, true husband and worldly riches.

You have no conception of the meaning of the word gratitude or you couldn't speak in such sacrilegious terms of your fortunate lot in life.

Today, there are thousands and almost millions of women who are walking the streets, penniless, lonely and ill, yet I wager to say not two per cent of them are as discontented as you, so shamefully admit yourself to be.

Stop thinking about yourself, stop analyzing your inner feelings. Take yourself out of your narrow shell of selfishness and see, for once, the other side of the avenue, where gratitude and appreciation go hand in hand.

You have a good home, a true husband, and two perfect babies. Your health is good and you, yourself want for nothing, except that one thing—happiness which is within your reach. If you could but realize it and reach for it.

Were you a moron, hardly capable of even understanding the word gratitude, I could sympathize with you, but an educated woman, allowing herself to fall into such a self centered rut as you have done, deserve only a shower of wrath upon her head, and a scouring about her mental body.

I'd like to help you. Discontented wife, but more than you, I'd like to help your poor husband and children. They are the ones who need the sympathy. Not you. Perhaps if he were to wake up and realize your selfishness he would be better off, but since he hasn't sensed this, why don't you turn over a new leaf before it is too late, and make amends for your ingratitude.

Cultivate a staple interest in life. Stop thinking about yourself. Do good with your time.

Civic Club Edges Independents In Medford's Amateur Opener, 11-9

Home Run Breaks Up Tie Game In Last Inning — Hard Hitting and Ragged Fielding Shown By Both Teams—Several Extra Base Hits—Civics Take Early Lead But Independents Climb and Knot Count In Eighth

In a game packed with hard hitting and ragged fielding, the Civic Club opened the amateur season in Medford yesterday afternoon by defeating the Independents on Summer street playground, 11-9. Both teams, members of the City League, presented strong lineups but the lack of practice was outstanding and the players were a tired lot at the finish of the contest which lasted two hours and a half.

Extra base hits featured, there being one double, five triples and a pair of home runs. Ten errors, five by each team, were scattered through the nine innings and nearly all figured in the run making.

Bob Hudson took the hill for the Independents and went the full distance, being nicked for 11 safe blows. Art Leavitt started on the mound for the Civics and was relieved by Joe Doherty in the sixth frame. Ten safeties were garnered from their combined offerings.

In the early innings the game appeared to be a walkaway for the Civics who rolled up 7-2 lead in the first four chapters. The Independents moved up gradually and going into the ninth inning the teams were deadlocked at nine all. The Civics scored two markers in their half of the ninth, both on extra base wallpops, to take the decision.

Lavery Shines
Jimmy Lavery, Independents catcher and ex-Civic player, was the only one to have a perfect day at bat. He obtained a pair of triples, two walks and had a sacrifice hit to his credit in five appearances at the platter. He was robbed of a homer on his first three-base blow when the ball hit a spectator in deep left field and stopped dead. Lavery started the contest with a five run rally in the second inning by booting a grounder and made three errors during his four three innings at second base. He then went behind the bat and shone in that position.

The Independents were the first to score, making a run in the first inning when Pat Faucette grounded to his brother but reached first when Rogers dropped the throw. Lavery sacrificed him along and Captain Fleet Colcough pounded a single to left.

With one out in the first of the second Capozzi walked and went to second when Lavery fumbled Doherty's bounder. Hudson lost Shiner's punt and the bases were jammed. Art Leavitt socked a triple over Bryan's head in deep right and all three runners crossed the plate. Walter Rogers doubled to center, scoring Leavitt and Hiker Mobilia whaled a single to the same spot as Rogers scampered across with the fifth run.

In the third the Civic Club registered another pair of tallies. McCullough walked and went to second as Capozzi was tossed out at first. Shiner singled to right. McCullough scoring. Leavitt got a life on Lavery's error and Shiner scooted for third. Lavery's throw to that bag went wild and Shiner scored.

St. Joseph's second run came in the third on successive passes to Lavery and Fleet Colcough and a single by Will Colcough. In the fifth the Civics added another. Captain John McCullough singled. W. Colcough dropped capozzi's fly but threw to second to nail McCullough sliding in. Capozzi swiped second and scored when Bryan booted Doherty's rap at second.

Score Three In Fifth
In the last of the fifth the Independents scored three times. Lavery opened with a triple to left and scored after the next pitch when McCullough's throw went into left field. The Colcough brothers were done away with but Pete Feeley singled and Deacon Donahue drove a home run to deep center-right.

Hudson singled with one out in the sixth and after Pat Faucette had been retired Lavery wallpopped his second triple. Hudson scoring and Lavery also being given an extra base when Capozzi tossed his glove at the ball.

A pass to McCullough and Capozzi's triple to right scored the ninth Civic Club run in the seventh. In the last of the eighth the Independents tied the game on a pass to Lavery who stole second, a single by Fleet Colcough, a pass ball and a high throw by Tom Faucette following W. Colcough's grounder.

Capozzi opened the ninth for the Civics with a triple to right and Doherty socked a homer to the same spot to decide this issue. The summary:

High Insurance Rate Cuts Down Registration During Month Of March

Effect of the high insurance rates in several parts of the state, as well as general business conditions, were strongly noticeable in March in the registration of automobiles. The figures for the first quarter of the year, made public by the Registry of Motor Vehicles, show a falling off of nearly 6 per cent as compared with the same quarter of last year. The actual drop was 36,230.

There had been registered to the first of this month 599,395 cars and trucks compared with 635,625 in the same period a year ago. The number of passenger cars, 514,188 was 36,126 less than a year ago. Trucks, numbering 85,207 total, were only 104 less than last year.

These figures, however, are susceptible to correction inasmuch as there were nearly 10,000 more reissues of registrations last year than this.

During the first quarter bus, trailer and motorcycle registrations also diminished by the number of dealer registrations increased. There was also a gain in new drivers, the 15,172 persons receiving original licenses being 373 more than in the previous year.

Big Drop in March
The possibility of saving one-quarter of the insurance cost and also taxes, was strongly reflected during March, when there was a drop of nearly 40 per cent in registrations. March registrations this year were 44,039 compared with 72,804 in March of 1931, the decrease being 28,765. Cars registered were 40,610, or 27,123 less than in March of last year. Trucks registered were 3,429, a drop of 562. There was a drop of 941 in new licenses and the State's income diminished $104,554.59. This drop in income wiped out a gain made in the earlier part of the year and caused a net loss for the three months of $122,469. For the three months this year the total income was $3,232,866.67. During March there were nearly 6000 less reissues of registrations than in March, 1931.

WHY WASHINGTON IS GREAT

The lives of great men all remind us, if we but stop to think about it, that the innermost core of greatness is an unquenchable, constant respect of a man for men. From that attitude are derived those qualities of sincerity, generosity, tolerance, and unselfish loyalty that endear an individual to his generation and cause posterity to reserve his memory to a degree not fully explained by gratitude for his service nor admiration for his achievement. Such a man was George Washington.

He has been labeled an aristocrat. Superficially that classification is correct, for Washington was born to a position of affluence in the landed gentry of his day. Yet nowhere in his relations with men, even those of humble stations, did he exhibit cheap ostentation of power or privilege. Rather, his was the poise of a man who, in respecting the essential personality of his fellows, tacitly expects for his own self a similar deference.

His own sacrifice in behalf of a common cause inspired in other men a loyalty to it and to his leadership. And when, after he had pursued to the point of realization the ideal voiced in the declaration of independence, he chivalrously sent a subordinate to receive the sword of his foe. He might have been king, but no. He spurned the suggestion, pained that it was offered. He would not play traitor to trust.

Certainly in George Washington is exemplified an unusual pattern of those traits which make a man truly great. And it is well to think on these things, especially at this moment when, in celebrating the Washington bicentennial, comes the easy temptation to idealize the historical person to the point that his least word becomes per se, a sacrosanct and literal guide for situations which in none but superficial aspects compare with those Washington faced.

Times change, but sincerity, generosity, tolerance, and unselfish devotion to an ideal are tokens of the human spirit that endure.

A GOOD MOVEMENT

"May Day—National Child Health Day reminds us, for the ninth time," says Mrs. Aida de Acosta Breckinridge of the American Child Health Association, "that in the children of the nation, as President Hoover says, 'we have the constant and unfailing source of vitality, wealth and leadership, the future benefits of which to the nation depends upon the health and protection of children today.'" The governors of many states as well as President Hoover have issued proclamations designating May first as a day for taking inventory of our programs for promoting child health and protection, and for conserving the nation's greatest possession, its children.

Mrs. Breckinridge was primarily responsible nine years ago for establishing May Day as a time for special consideration of the needs of children. "The general purpose of May Day this year," she adds, "is to focus the spirit of sharing and of responsibility toward one's neighbors, on such points as the need of every child to be sheltered in its home and share secure family life; to have the essential food elements in each day's diet; to have an adequate amount of clean and safe milk; to have plenty of sunshine, sleep, rest and recreation; and the need of every infant to be born healthy, of a healthy mother, who will live to love her child and take care of her family. It is also the aim of May Day Committees to put into practice in every community the nineteen points of The Children's Charter—the Magna Carta of childhood."

Twenty-three states now have Child Health Councils working the year round in behalf of children. All states have May Day Chairmen, usually the Chiefs of the Divisions of Child Hygiene, who organize state and local committees to plan community programs. The special observance of May Day itself has become an occasion for reporting the results of the past year's efforts in behalf of children and for inaugurating new steps which may be of particular value to the well-being of the children in the community. The movement should be encouraged by Arlington people.

Sends Jokes

Dear Daddy Sunshine:

I went to the show Saturday with the pass you gave me. I liked "Mal" and his pals on the stage, very much. I listened to your program Monday over the radio. It was very nice.

I will try to save silver paper. Here is a joke I heard on the stage. Put one o, put two o's, put three o's put four o's put five o's put six o's put seven o's put eight o's.

On my report card I got two A's six B's, three C's. Here is a joke: "Hey, wake up pop." "I cannot." "Why?" "I am not asleep."

I am in school writing this letter. I have some spare time.

Agnes Clair,
21 Manning street,
Medford, Mass.

Writes Again

Dear Daddy Sunshine:

I am very sorry I did not write sooner. I hope you have not forgotten me. I have a friend who would like to join your club so I told her I would ask you if she could. Can she? Her name is Norma Sullivan. She is 7 years old, in the second grade and goes to the Franklin School. Please put this letter in the paper and tell me whether Norma may join the club or not. Please send us both a pin.

With love,
Barbara Higginson.

P. S. We are both saving silver and have saved quite a lot already. Please send the pins to 38 Garfield avenue, Medford, Mass.

Of course Norma may join, but you know she must first write a letter to Daddy Sunshine and state her desire to become a member. As for the pins, as usual, we are all out of them. They don't last long, you know, and Daddy Sunshine is endeavoring to get some more money to buy them. Be sure and ask Norma to write. Don't forget it.

A Poem

Dear Daddy Sunshine:

Here is a poem I made up:

Braveness
When I'm sick and lie in bed,
Or sometimes I have a pain in the head;
And when I'm crying, mother says, "Now dear,
You mustn't cry when I'm near,
Just try to be brave my darling,
As brave as you can be,
Then soon you will be on your feet again,
Don't you see?"
I try to be as patient as anyone can be,
But when I'm sick I just can't help,
If I let out just one little yelp,
Some girls come in with cards for me,
Oh just think how happy one can be,
With loving greeting to be well.
I hope the members like it.
I listen to your program and I enjoy it very much. I will have to close now with lots of love,
Frances Harmon,
87 Andrews street,
Medford, Mass.

Many Patrons Visit New Coffee Shoppe

Holiday crowds thronged Arlington's restaurants and tearooms yesterday. The Rosebud tearoom, Wyman's English Tavern and Rydberg's sandwich shoppe were busy throughout the day.

A large number of merry-makers visited Arlington's newest eating place, the Arlington Coffee Shoppe, at 464 Massachusetts avenue. This new restaurant under the personal management of Anthony G. Sacco, formerly of Boston, offers a homelike atmosphere and serves delicious food. Its chef has had several years of hotel experience in Boston.

With the exception of a few stores which opened during the forenoon only, the restaurants were the only business places open yesterday. The postoffice, banks, etc., remained closed all day.

At such meeting there shall be placed upon the ballot the following question:—"Shall an act passed by the general court in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-two, entitled 'An act authorizing the Selectmen of the Town of Arlington to act as a Board of Public Works exercising the Powers of Surveyors of Highways, Road Commissioners, Water Commissioners and Sewer Commissioners and providing for the Appointment of Certain Other Town Boards and Officers' be accepted?" If a majority of the votes cast in answer to said question are in the affirmative, this act shall become fully effective beginning with, and for the purposes of, the next annual town election; or if the result of such vote is otherwise, this act shall be void.

erans; Girl Scouts' Drum Corps, Arlington Girl Scouts.

Arriving at the historic old Pleasant street burial ground, a salute was fired at the Soldiers of American Revolution monument where nine flags had been placed the previous day by the Menotomy Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Rev. John Nicol Mark, chaplain of American Legion post No. 39 gave a stirring address appropriate for the day, and a wreath of flowers was placed on the Soldiers' Monument by Mrs. L. E. A. Smith. Following the sounding of taps, the marchers again fell in line and proceeded down Broadway and to Massachusetts avenue to the Town Hall where the parade was reviewed by town officials and their guests.

The parade disbanded and the crowds then gathered on the town hall steps to hear a most enjoyable concert by the Legion band. War time tunes and old patriotic songs were the favorites of the day. Then came the big moment of the celebration—the arrival of Paul Revere, impersonated by Sergeant "Pop" Edgar H. Needham of Troop E, 110th Cavalry.

Arriving at the Town Hall shortly before eleven-thirty, the rider was six minutes ahead of schedule. A roar ran along the avenue as he appeared on his fiery steed and dashed up to the town hall steps where town officials were ready to greet him. Church bells rang for half an hour.

The rider, his military escort and a group of prominent officials, who had followed him in automobiles all along the route from Boston, entered the town hall auditorium where they were given an informal reception by members of the Daughters of American Revolution. Refreshments were served by a group of ladies charmingly attired in colonial costumes. It was a rare pleasure to see this picture as Miss Edna Warren, chairman of the group consisting of Mrs. Charles Shedd and her young daughter, Muriel; Mrs. E. A. Bacon, Mrs. Mortimer H. Wells and Miss Laura Jean Rodd served refreshments to the tired rider and his military escort.

John Easton, official clerk of Arlington's board of selectmen, was on the job making Paul Revere feel right at home in Arlington's beautiful town hall auditorium. About a half hour later, the shrill sound of motorcycle sirens announced the arrival of the second rider—William Dawes, Jr., who was represented by Sergeant Edgar H. Needham, Jr., blue-eyed son of the "Pop" Needham. The young man, and his escort of four cavalymen entered the hall amid shouts and applause of the group awaiting their arrival. There was plenty of hand shaking and informal receptions here and there. Young towns with eyes wide open were taken to the riders and introduced by their fathers to Paul Revere and William Dawes Jr., the heroes of the day. One of the military escort came near being thrown while along the route to Arlington but that proved to be the only mishap up to the time the riders had reached Arlington. A squadron of six army planes in perfect formation zoomed over Arlington Center during the reception.

Following the reception in the auditorium, the riders posed for a picture with William G. Hauser, chairman of the board of selectmen in front of the Town Hall and shortly before twelve noon, Paul Revere was off again, this time to Lexington where he was to be welcomed on the Green. As the clock struck twelve noon, William Dawes, Jr., and his escort bade Arlington farewell and were off to Lexington.

Arlington police under the personal supervision of Chief Archie F. Bullock efficiently handled traffic in front of the Town Hall and the large crowd that gathered there went home in a most orderly manner.

The American Legion post No. 39 Colonial hall in the Town Hall auditorium last night concluded the day's celebration.

Arlington Theatre Hits

"Dance Team" starring James Dunn and Sally Eilers heads the bill at Arlington's Capitol Theatre this week. The two actors are without a doubt one of the most popular movie pairs now on the screen. Their work in "Dance Team" excels any past performances on their part.

The second picture on the same bill is "Two Kinds of Women," featuring Marion Hopkins and Philip Holmes. Miss Hopkins was the Tribby of "Zen-galli" in which John Barrymore played the feature role while Holmes will be remembered for his fine work in "American Tragedy."

Do You Know
How far a dollar will carry you—by telephone—in a 3-minute conversation when you call by number? The answer is 174 miles. Fifty cents goes 64 miles; a quarter goes 25 miles.
In the evening, between 7 and 8.30, the same dollar goes 246 miles; after 8.30, at night rates, it goes 410 miles. A 3-minute conversation will average about 500 words, and the nice thing is that it's personal, and you get an immediate answer.

They Satisfy Chesterfield

The Cigarette that MILDERS...
The Cigarette that TASTES BETTER

"You Might Call it a Peculiar Reason"

"The thing I like most about Chesterfields... is the neat way they're made. It may sound fussy... probably does... but I just can't bear to get little crumbs of tobacco in my mouth."

"I never really enjoyed smoking until I discovered Chesterfields. Perhaps you have noticed how nicely they're filled. Every one of them is rolled just right."

"And do you know... the more I smoke Chesterfields, the better I like the taste. It's not raw... and it's not over-sweet. It's just sweet enough so that you never tire of it. I find Chesterfields are really milder, too!"

Sidelights On Medford's Celebration

Everybody complimented Chairman Charles T. Daly on the promptness with which the program was carried out.

The drum major with the Geo. H. Russell post, U. S. W. V. of Winthrop, attracted marked attention. Her costume was extremely natty, and her personal charms were in keeping. Her name is Miss Evelyn Sears.

The contrasting uniforms, made the parade a colorful one. The Lawrence Light Guard, as usual, looked like true soldiers, and the Legion drum corps as ever, drew attention by their fine music and the Russell post boys also did a wonderful job.

The weather man took a few hours off and allowed the sun to shine. The Girl Scouts and the Boy Scouts made a fine showing and the St. Joseph's girls and boys in large numbers were as ever full of marked enthusiasm.

The City Government was present in numbers and Senator Charles C. Warren, despite his home town activities was celebrating also. Bill Stancumbe of the Elks, placed the wreath on the Revolutionary tablet on the High school grounds.

The newly formed girl scout drum and bugle corps made a hit, after only a week's practice.

The boy scouts were distributed among various organizations, carrying flags, etc.; the ranks did not seem as full as if they marched in a body.

John Hughes, aged 15, son of Henry Hughes of 25 Manning street, Medford, a trumpeter in St. Joseph's band, had the honor of placing a wreath on the Minute Men Memorial at the Medford Public Library on High street, during Tuesday's celebration, for the St. Joseph's group. He was signalled out for this honor on account of his punctual attendance at every rehearsal in past four years.

Motorcycle Officer Binford and Duffy were kept on the hop all day Tuesday. Previous to the parade they patrolled the route and kept the way open. With the city government and other representatives they met and escorted the Paul Revere rider to the Armory and then to the Arlington line. The police, all told, did splendid work.

President Benjamin B. Ostlue of the Chamber of Commerce, also top sergeant of the Minute Men, who had charge of the decorations for the Revolutionary heroes graves, was commended by Chairman Charles T. Daly for the excellent manner in which the work was accomplished. The Boy and Girl Scouts, under Mr. Ostlue's direction, decorated graves. The girls in snappy uniforms, carried the wreaths, and the boys carried the flags, in the parade. They presented a fine sight to the spectators.

Lieutenant Col. Orville J. Whitney, chief marshal, deserves more than passing commendation for the smoothness and precise regularity in which the parade was presented. His long years of training proved of great benefit to Medford in presenting a parade that stood out in the history of the city.

It is hard to decide, whether Lt. "Tommy" Kirwan, looks best in his "civies", his police uniform or his "soup and fish" which he wears as an officer in the Elks. "Tommy" and Stuart Lenox, his side-kick on the liquor squad, turned out for the parade, with "Tommy" leading Medford's finest.

Miss Mary O'Leary of 1929 Beacon street, Brookline, was the guest over the holiday of Miss Peggy Caliri of Dearborn street, Medford.

Ex-Ald. Peters Gives Views On House Bill

Mr. Editor: There recently appeared in your paper an item regarding House Bill No. 636, providing for the payment of compensation to employees injured in industrial accidents during the entire period of total incapacity.

This bill was supported by one of our local representatives, and it would almost appear from the reading of your paper that you approved of this bill.

In almost every quarter we hear advice to practice economy and to curtail expenses, whether the expense be in governmental bureaus or departments, in industrial business, or in any manner that adds to the burden of conducting business, and which burden in turn must be passed on either in the form of taxes or higher prices of goods to the ultimate consumer.

We have a good Compensation Act in this state, by most authorities considered the best Act of its type in the United States. It is ably administered, payments to injured employees in this state are liberal and compared to other states, are very promptly paid. The benefits to the injured employees have been constantly increased, until they have now reached the point where they amount to a staggering sum in the cost of doing business. In view of the fact that the Compensation Act provides compensation to an injured employee, even though the injury be caused by his own negligence, a reasonable limit has been reached.

Yet this House Bill No. 636, which was apparently so favorably spoken of by your paper, would add between two and three million dollars annually in payment under this Compensation Act. The cost of investigation and administration would have materially increased the total expense to Massachusetts business and the citizens of this state.

All of our manufacturers are already handicapped in competition with the same lines of business in other states, due to the excessive cost of doing business in this state, and fortunately for our industries and the public at large, this attempt to further increase the unfair cost of doing business in this state was, after being engrossed in the House, killed by the Senate on April 4th of this year.

This was a happy ending to a very poor amendment to the Compensation Act.

Very truly yours,
Edward M. Peters.

Results Apparent In Job-Getting Far and Wide

Joint committee activities, combining the job-getting effort in many cities are getting results, according to advice received at the Hotel Baltimore, New York headquarters of the War Against Depression Campaign.

This is the drive that is carrying on the United Action for Employment of the American Legion, the Association of National Advertisers and the Legion Auxiliary, together with thousands of other organizations with a membership of more than 23,000,000.

In Englewood, N. Y., through the combined efforts of the Mayor's Unemployment Committee, the U. S. Department of Labor, and the Binghamton Post of the Legion, 1,950 wage earners were put to work. The City has expended more than $9,000 in money pledges raised for work; and has raised more than $200,000 for unemployment relief, headquarters was informed. Through its own efforts, the Binghamton Post put some 200 men to work.

The unemployment crisis is passed in Koppin, Oregon, for its nine jobless are no longer charity receivers. They are on payrolls.

Four groups in Atlanta, Ga., found work yesterday for 120 persons, while highway construction at Louisville, Ga., put that town's 15 jobless to work. The Illinois Central System at Elmhurst, Ill., reported work found for 100 men.

Long Island is showing up well in the job-getting business, Freeport putting 186 to work and Rockville Center, 81. Freeport under the direction of Carl Erbo, is staging a monster Freeport Day on May 19th which is expected to bolster up business and end the unemployment problem in that town.
